

I AM AN AMERICAN

NISEI SOLDIER EXPERIENCE TRAVELING EXHIBIT

Stories of Uncommon Valor

Introducing the “I AM AN AMERICAN: The Nisei Soldier Experience” - a powerful collaboration between the National Museum of the United States Army, the National Veterans Network, and The Army Historical Foundation.

Together, we aim to raise awareness about the extraordinary service of the U.S. Army's 100th Infantry Battalion, 442nd Regimental Combat Team, and Military Intelligence Service, who served in a segregated unit in World War II. These brave men and women came from across America enlisting from the islands of Hawaii and the mainland U.S. including the 10 War Relocation Authority (WRA) incarceration camps. They exhibited unparalleled patriotism and loyalty during the war, even as many of their families faced mass incarceration and discrimination based on their Japanese ancestry. Through our traveling exhibition, we seek to combat prejudice by sharing a compelling narrative that resonates with individuals who value patriotism and a profound sense of duty towards their country, even in times of great sacrifice.
